The Hanbury occasional table by Currey & Co. is a charming take on 19th-century European garden furniture. The 22" dia. x 25" h. faux-bois piece is made of concrete and steel; $820 at Mecox. mecox.com, 877-768-6428

Covered in jubilant patterns by French artist Nathalie Lété, these gold-edged notebooks from Astier de Villatte are a winsome way to jot down your thoughts. They measure 4.5" x 6.75" and 5.75" x 8" and come in additional designs and colors; $25-$40 at Nickey Kehoe. nickeykehoe.com, 323-954-9300

Offered in a lively multicolor and a blue version, Clarence House's linen-cotton Zang fabric gives 18th-century chinoiserie toile de Jouy a fresh sensibility; to the trade. clarencehouse.com, 800-803-2850

Bernhardt's Auberge four-poster channels the sophistication and comfort of a French country house. Made of oak, with linen upholstery and a metal canopy, the king-size bed stands 91.25" tall. It is also sold in queen and California-king sizes and can be ordered without the canopy; $3,050 as shown. bernhardt.com

For his new melamine serving trays, designer John Derian selected two favorite patterns—he calls them Honeycomb and Net—from his extensive archive of antique and vintage prints. Each tray is 19" l. x 14.5" w. x 2.5" h. and costs $65. johnderian.com, 212-677-3917
