WORLDLY RICHES

SPECIALLY MADE TILES SHOW OFF THE EXOTIC PATTERNS AND HUES OF THE NEW HILL BROWN FABRIC LINE.

When printed fabrics first reached the West from India in the 17th century, the boats unloaded and the French went nuts," says Donna May Woods, head designer for Hill Brown, a new Clarence House company creating lush textiles.

The debut collection is made up of 30 mix-and-matchable patterns that draw on all eras and come in a variety of colors.

We were especially captivated by the printed and embroidered ikats, florals, and toiles that capture the magic of that influential first exchange between East and West. In shades of azure, they are at once classic, transporting, and enchanting. "Fabric," says Woods, "is the most seductive thing in the world." □
